

Cyngor Tref Llanwrtyd Town Council
Councillor Ainsley Jones

Although I was born in London, most of my early life was spent in Llanwrtyd where I attended Llanwrtyd County Primary School and Builth County Grammar School.

As far back at 1957 I married Elfed in St James' Church, and embarked with him on his RAF career, living with him and our three daughters in various locations in England and on the continent.

We returned to Llanwrtyd in 1989 upon Elfed's retirement and soon after I started work with Powys County Council, gaining valuable insight into the workings of local government during the ten years I was there.

Always interested in community affairs, I play an active part in many local organisations. I have been a Town Councillor since 1991. I was honoured to be Town Mayor in 1994/95 and again in 2010/11.
